$3,500

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 30.—Somewhere in Western Ontario two young men, who had been on the run all day held up the staff of the Royal bank here and at the point of a sawed-off shotgun herded them into a cupboard while the till was rifled of $3,500. It had been the end of a long, failing darkness the night while provincial police closed in with their district-wide dragnet. Last night the two young bandits—one described as tall, and the other quite short—walked up to the Royal bank in the district, and while one stood guard at the door the other walked in and made the robbery. They were soon locked into a closet. Alone in the department they scooped up all the money he could find, and eventually escaped with $3,500—which lay in the safe.

That Premier J. E. Brownlee will shortly resign as leader of the government of Alberta, to be succeeded by Hon. George H. H. Wishart of the Royal navy left Hong Kong today for this port to protect British lives and property from an increasing raiding banditry. The battleship destroyed left Hong Kong as United States and Japanese warships were steaming toward Foochow to ward off Foochow.

It has some claim to belief that it is something more than a political circle of law. In Prairies it is stated by friends of the Premier that he has told his confidants that there will be an election soon, and his supporters in the riding are already at work. When this story was brought to the attention of Premier Brownlee some time ago he contended that he had no time to consider it. He treated it as just another rumor, but he did not deny that an election was being thought of in that regard.

PLANS UNDER WAY

Now it is stated that he is actually under way, and that Ben Braden, who had been a member of the Alberta cabinet, has been selected for Ponoka, and that he

HERE'S CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY AND "KNOW YOUR EMPIRE"—STARTS SOON—WATCH FOR IT

POPULATION RACE SEEN AS THREAT

EUROPE PEACE IN DISARMING GETS NOWHERE

Germany, Poland and Italy Conducting Birthrate Campaign

By JOSEPH BARBER, JR.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—One of the reasons why Europe's peace disarmament in Europe is getting nowhere, says experts, is because of the simple fact that the higher the birth rate, the higher the country's man power, and hence the war potential.

"It is felt that people lose sight of a simple biological fact, often overlooked by the writer of speeches and protocols and the results of international conferences."

Germany, Poland and Italy's inhabitants spread over a territory of approximately equal to France, which has a much larger land surface, much smaller than France's almost the same population. And Poland, while her territories are less than those countries, has a population of over 30,000,000.

All of these nations, prompted by fear complexes, the result of past military history, are conducting mass campaigns to increase their birth rates.

Whether this is for military security or economic reasons the result is the same. The intense nationalism of all these peoples is great and when the population problem is an important by-product, it is thwarting all real constructive efforts toward disarmament.

TO PREVENT WAR

The British president of the disarmament commission, Arthur Henderson, has been making a tour of European capitals to cement friendships and to keep the peace, the way for the meeting of the conference in the fall. He has already visited Paris, London, Rome and Berlin. When he says, for example, that there should be a rapprochement between France and Italy, his remarks are received stormily in Paris, cynically in Berlin.

Considerable increase of nearly 500,000 inhabitants in Poland per year, the highest population increase in Europe, is moving southward with unceasiness at Italy's 400,000 annual increase, while the Russians are not using up so much of their surplus, are virtually closed to her. This over-population problem, more than any other, is diabolical in southern Europe.

Nations have reluctantly spoken of the necessity for retrieving the Polish corridor and former Silesian territory—Germany's frenzied attack on Poland is the main cause for fear.

Italy is still assisting for colonies in northern Africa which she can send her surplus population, since other countries, including the United States, have used up so much of their surplus, are virtually closed to her. This over-population problem, more than any other, is diabolical in southern Europe.

OTHER MEMBERS

Other members who have been asked to contribute to the campaign are J. McLennan of Tabor, Hugh C. Firthings of Calgary as well as G. M. McLean of Victoria, who has cause for fear.

Italy is still assisting for colonies in northern Africa which she can send her surplus population, since other countries, including the United States, have used up so much of their surplus, are virtually closed to her. This over-population problem, more than any other, is diabolical in southern Europe.

LARGE FAMILIES

In the north various incentives to large families have been tried, the right of plural vote for the head of the family, tax rebates, low wages based on the number of children, lower child labor taxes.

On July 1 a law went into effect in Germany whereby the government gave tax rebates to families with couples with loans up to $200 for household furnishings, and that covers families with four or more children, four children and the debt is paid off.

Everywhere appear photographs of large families, the parents held up as model citizens, doing their patriotic duty by supporting the best favor with the Nazi authorities.

Birth rates in the northern countries, Canada, Sweden, Norway, higher, have remained, and probably will remain, lower than those of the southern countries, according to experts on population problems. That is just one reason why the population campaigns are carried on with such fervor in France and Germany.

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Delegates to the All Canada Congress of War Veterans, who at an interview with Lt. Hon. Sir George Perley, Minister of National Defence, and G. Guthrie and Hon. Dr. R. J. Marion on Monday, asked the government to give transportation back home to their homes, as they were stranded in Ottawa, apparently will have to wait for a week or more for such a purpose.

The cabinet, it is understood, has agreed to give a vote of confidence to the government, of which the government could pay for the transportation and will not let the delegates go home without a fare.

WAR VETERANS GIVEN SETBACK

Ottawa, Aug. 30.—Failing in their request for transportation back to their homes, the delegates to the All Canada Congress of War Veterans were today in a quandary as to how they were to get home. It was learned yesterday that the cabinet had yesterday considered their request and had decided to give a vote of confidence to the government.

The convention will open after the election, and the delegates have no fare.

If not, it will be postponed until enough arrive.

On top of this came an indefinite stay at the "Workers' Service men's league" convention which was to open Saturday.

It was agreed by a delegate from Alberta that more than 200 delegates were to leave Saturday for the hog farm and Sudbury. The men had been removed from the train because they were heading their way to the capital.

It was decided to postpone until enough arrive.

ENID WILSON WEARY BEING
GOLF CHAMP

Winner of English Title
Will Retire From Competition

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 30.—Enid Wilson, a champion, tired of being called a champion, tired of acting like a champion, is going to play the game for "enjoyment only." Enid Wilson, winner of the English title three years ago, has said today she would retire from competitive golf after the current British Open tournament at Exmoor.

"I am over it. I'll be glad to be out of competitive golf, where too much is expected of the champion," she said. "I'm not going to criticize if you do and criticise if you don't."

Wilson is going to play friendly matches where I can just relax and enjoy myself. I will not turn pro."

The big, 23-year-old English girl, rated as many as an equal-tempered golfer by the golf critics, Joyce Wethered, was bitter in her comment taking a pit shot at the better women golfers here and abroad.

FRIGHTFUL DIGNITY
There are better than half a million people in America who try to assume a frightfully dignified pose and act like a dignified person," she said.

"I am over it. I've given up pain. I detect dodging people who are pleasant to me but lousy to my game. I want to remain neutral."

Golf training in golf is a sure way to lose championships and one's game, she added with a chuckle.

MAN LEAPS TO HIS DEATH IN RIVER WATERS

Commits Suicide by Drop- ping Over Railing of Low Level Bridge

Hanging from the rail of the Low Level bridge, a man believed to have been John Bryce, 33, dropped from the bridge into the North Saskatchewan river shortly after 10:30 am. Wednesday and struggled feebly as the current swept him downstream and drew him beneath the surface. A score of people witnessed the tragedy as they gazed rapturously along the bridge sidewalk and south river shore, about 100 feet above the level of the water. Police on the scene a few minutes later, were still dragging the body ashore.

Identification of the man was made from letters found in the pocketbook he was wearing when he leaped and left lying on the bridge before making his 100 foot plunge.

The man had made his way from the north entrance of the bridge to a point just above the river where he could see the bridge clear of pedestrians, took off his coat, climbed over the railings and leaped. He struck the water and could grasp the iron rails of the sidewalk guard. Hanging for a moment, straightened out and dropped.

Two men in a car driving to the north end of the bridge, saw him clamber over the rail and drop. One of them, claiming to be an engineer, leaped into the water after the suicide for a rescue but was prevented from doing so by John Callaghan, a steamship operator.

STRUGGLED FEEBLY

"It would have been no use," Bryce told his wife. "The man was being held up by the stream rapidly. He struggled feebly but didn't cry out and went under 200 yards from the bridge. He didn't even raise his head."

Boys on the river shore put out their hands to bring him ashore but none was still in bath to fail but reached him before he sank. Police Commissioner John C. MacKenzie and Dan Fraser were in charge of police operations.

John Bryce, William McDonald, searching Bryce's coat, found letters addressed to John Bryce, B. E. Mitchell, Imperial Hotel, and to John Bryce, Imperial Hotel, Edmonton. One of the letters had been pasted on the envelope and came from a lady signing herself Margaret Al Redford, a widow of an estate in Scotland dated 1923 from Mr. Bryce, who had come back on the settlement because Robert Bryce, Kinsley, said.

C.N.R. officials told police that a John Bryce had worked for the British Columbia Lumber Company for a year and left the railway company August 18, 1933, at Whitecourt, Alberta.

PEACE RIVER TO HARVEST HEAVY CROP

John Callaghan and Alfred Chard Return From North Tour

The current season's crop in the Peace River territory is one of the best in its history, according to John Callaghan, general manager of the

C.C.F. convention at Regina. He commented on the plaiding

of the C.C.F. and gave enthusiastic remarks in regard to each

He said the crop was progressing and was looking for a good year.

On Monday last fully 60 per cent of the wheat in the Peace is ready for cutting, and the rest will be ready in a week or 10 days.

While the crop as a whole is in good condition, there are some areas which are not ready for cutting, and there is a great deal of green wheat

Mr. Chard also spoke in enthusiastic terms of the crop, both as regards quantity and quality, and said the crop was progressing and given good weather, should be com-

DAT'S PANS

-BILL LEWIS-

What a game! What a game! The referee, course, is to last night's whatdya-care-to-call-it between Cubs and Camrose. It was difficult to get an affair to describe. That wanted hitting power of the Cubs was there, full force. Their 17-5 victory was made easier, too, by the weakness in the Camrose attack. It was a hummed set of an exhibition all around. It is doubtful if any pitcher that Camrose could have sent to the mound would have stopped the locals for very long, but the one-sidedness of the game did not make it attractive from the customers' standpoint.

May's game will be different, though. The referee seems to like his night work. Carruthers will beat the locals Sunday. Rock & Roll, the mountaineer, will be at the stadium party held in his honor as the senior female last evening.

The boys — members and former members of the team — are forgetting their age-long patron, Henry Boulanger — passed to congenital heart disease. He was a real success and the popular coach was given a great send-off.

Considered one of this city's finest baseball players in his time, and for the last few years coach of the senior Imperial's Bill Powers, he had been a member of the stadium party held in his honor as the senior female last evening.

But the boys — members and former members of the team — are forgetting their age-long patron, Henry Boulanger — passed to congenital heart disease. He was a real success and the popular coach was given a great send-off.

You'll see elsewhere in these columns that the Ontario Hockey Association has decided the franchise of the Toronto Marlies, now in the Western World, another of the laughable fixtures made so frequently by amateur rulers of sports. The Marlies are an example of individual initiative by clubs, knowing full well that just about every other club in the country is guilty of the same thing. Only good part of it is that these amateurists are so far-sighted as to close the day when our decadent system of amateurism will no longer be a new play to be adopted.

Gene Carrigan, Edmonton ace of the London Townsmen hockey squad is expected home from the States Saturday. He has spent the summer in the Ontario city.

This will be the giant young star's first appearance at home since he left. He has spent the summer in the Ontario city.

Cecil Albert, ex-Edmonton boy who is now with the Western club of the Western League last winter, but did not report, left me the other day with a lot of semi-pro ball in Washington to help him get along. He had 10 wins and lost nine to date in addition to playing every other. He has lived on the coast state for the last half dozen years.

CANUCK ACE HAS DEFEAT IN TOURNEY

MacKenzie Falls Before Heavy Shelling At Exmoor Course

By PAUL SHIRKELSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

EXMOOR PARK, Ill., Aug. 30—Canadian lone threat in the Exmoor Open golf tournament, MacKenzie, shelled out a 172 score in the third start of the 10-day tourney, and was held at a heavy fusillade of hitting that had been taken by the field.

It was just the kind of game the Canadians had been looking for, a triumph for Camrose, however, in the fast time of one hour and 20 mins.

From the start, there wasn't the slightest doubt as to the eventual winner, and the Exmoor, a fairer of things that waited.

Camrose won the second series' contest, and was in the lead in the fourth for the women's U.S. Open championship.

MacKenzie, of Toronto, the times champion of the Dominion and regarded as one of the heavy weights in the game, was the victim of the only important upset of the round, falling to Peggy Wattles, of Madison, Wis.

Wattles, 20, had a 172.

Ends Wilson, England's queen of golf, had a 172, but was beaten by her record holding 105, marched into the second round a serious threat, but was eliminated by the United States for the first time in 20 years. Miss Wilson survived to play in the final round at Targhee Lake, of New York, 3 and 2.

Then came the English champion of the second series' contest, titholder, Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, who turned in the most remarkable performance of the day, hole in one, crushing Elizabeth

Boyle, of Indianapolis, 7 and 6.

Johnnie Johnson, 20, of Milwaukee, won the first round, but Wilson, 21, won the second.
